Standard measurement products don't fit? Discover tailor-made magnetic solutions

Not all applications fit into a standard solution. Whether you're working with space constraints, extreme conditions, or unique motion requirements, off-the-shelf measurement solutions may not provide the precision or adaptability you need. That's where BOGEN comes in.

We specialize in custom magnetic measurement solutions, designing magnetic rings, tapes, and sensors that match your exact specifications.

- Tailored for your application – Adapted to your size, material, and accuracy needs.
- Extreme environment ready – Engineered for high speed, high temperature, and aggressive media.
- Seamless integration – Designed to fit your system effortlessly, reducing complexity and improving performance.

Whether you're in robotics, automation, or precision engineering, our custom solutions ensure maximum accuracy and reliability where standard products fall short.

We are ready to deliver you sample quantities up to more than 10,000 a month.

Need a rotary or linear scale that fits your challenge? Let's create one together!
